Committee Kills Money Study Plan

Fiscal Policy Seen As Hot Political Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voting as a bloc, Democrats on the Senate Banking Committee Tuesday killed President Eisenhower's plan to have a White House commission study the nation's finances.

Two committee Democrats whose votes had been considered doubtful, joined the other Democrats in outvoting Republicans 8-7. The GOP members reportedly had gotten personal appeals from Eisenhower to spur action on the measure.

Democrats want to keep an investigation of money matters strictly in the hands of the Democratic-controlled Senate Finance Committee. This group began its public study two weeks ago.

With "tight money" considered a hot political issue, the Democrats had no enthusiasm for letting the administration appoint a panel to investigate its own fiscal policies.

Bitter Debate
The rival plans for a fiscal study have stirred bitter partisan debate. The intensity of political feeling was demonstrated Monday when Sen. Kerr (D - Okla.), said on the Senate floor that Eisenhower hasn't the brains to understand federal fiscal problems.

Kerr was rebuked at the time by Sen. Capehart of Indiana, senior Banking Committee Republican and author of the bill which (Continued on Page Nine)

Charge Youth Murdered Mother, His Baby Sister
VIRGINIA, Minn. (AP) — A first degree murder charge was filed Tuesday against an 18-year-old youth who admitted killing his mother and baby sister during a sudden rage that followed hours of morose, lonely drinking.

William Niemi Jr., waived preliminary hearing in Municipal Court and was bound over to District Court on the two-count charge.

In a statement to police, the slight, bespectacled machinist admitted firing a pistol and shotgun at his parents and 4-year-old sister, Mary Monday night because "I was mad at everybody."

After shooting at his parents, he told Detective Emil Lindeman he turned a shotgun on the crying child. The mother, wounded twice as she stood on the back porch of the family home, died three hours later in a hospital. The child was killed in her crib.

"I don't like crying babies," Lindeman quoted the youth as saying.

"I didn't want to kill them," Lindeman quoted him. "I wanted to kill myself."

BIDS FOR HIGHWAY PROJECTS
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Bids totaling $2,774,173 for projects in 18 counties were received Tuesday by the State Highway Division.

BOY, 14, KILLED BY RICOCHETING BULLET
GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — Pete Belovich Jr., 14, was killed Tuesday by a rifle bullet which had ricocheted off a lake.

His brother, John, 16, told police he was on the opposite side of the lake and fired at a turtle in the lake. The bullet ricocheted off the water, John said, and a few minutes later he found his brother lying in a field with a bullet wound above the right eye.

The lake is on the family farm near Granite City.

Minister Describes Heckling Of Mob In Clinton Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Baptist minister gave a blow-by-blow account in U.S. District Court Tuesday of how he got his nose bloodied by a fellow townsman who taunted him with cries of "negro loving preacher" during Clinton racial disorders last Dec. 4.

It was an oft-told tale, but the Rev. Paul Turner recited it in meticulous detail for the all-white jury. He named his assailant as Clyde Cook, 36, an Oak Ridge plant worker and a defendant in the Clinton segregation trials.

The 34-year-old minister's testimony marked a high spot of the government's attempt to prove that 14 Tennesseans and northern segregationist John Kasper conspired to violate an anti-violence injunction at integrated Clinton High School.

The government is expected to wind up its case Wednesday.

The defense, with more than 80 witnesses under subpoena, may take the criminal contempt case well into next week.

Turner's constant repetition of the words "Negro lover" in describing how members of a mob heckled him touched off volleys of angry objections from the defense.

Turner, pastor of Clinton's First Baptist Church, was attacked on the town square and beaten after escorting six Negro students to the formerly all-white school.

Clinton High was the first state-supported secondary school in Tennessee to mix the races.

Turner said Cook tried to "jump me" when he started to pass him on the sidewalk.

"I began backing across the street," the minister said. "I kept him away from me by holding my arm out and backing fast."

Somewhere he said he did not know who—got behind him and pinned his arms to his sides so (Continued on Page Nine)

Floods Caused Widespread Crop Damage In State
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Recent rains which caused new flooding in a number of Illinois counties brought destruction to crops that may total thousands of acres, the State-Federal Agriculture Department said Tuesday.

Chiefly affected were Cook County and a number of counties to the south and west, the crop service said. Kaskaskia Bottomlands in the Vandalia area were flooded for the third time this season.

Little or no possibility was held out for replanting freshly flooded areas.

Corn and soybeans continued to lag behind last year's schedule. Corn height averaged 3 1/2 feet during the week ended July 16 compared to 5 1/2 last year at this time. Only 15 per cent of soybean fields had started to bloom, compared with more than one-half a year ago.

Wheat and oats proved disappointing in central and southern areas. Wheat combining approached completion and oat harvest moved into the northern quarter of the state with about 45 per cent combined to date.

QUARANTINE TRANSPORT
122 HAVE ORIENTAL FLU
BREMERHAVEN, Germany (AP) — The U.S. Army Tuesday ordered the quarantine of a troop transport to prevent the spread of Oriental flu. The Army said the transport, Gen. Patch, had 122 flu patients among its 1,256 passengers and crew. The ship, due Wednesday from New York, will be anchored in the Weser Estuary outside the port. None of the cases was reported serious.

Nation's Leaders Pay Tribute To James M. Cox
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Many of the nation's leaders Tuesday paid tribute to James M. Cox, newspaper publisher, former Ohio governor and 1920 Democratic presidential nominee, who died Monday night in his home here at the age of 87.

Private burial services will be held Wednesday morning in Woodland Cemetery here followed by a public memorial service in Dayton's Christ Episcopal Church.

In Washington, House Speaker Sam Rayburn said he had lost "a very dear old friend" whom he termed "one of the finest men I ever knew."

Democratic party Chairman Paul M. Butler said the death of Cox meant that "our country has lost a respected elder statesman, and the Democratic party a wise counselor. Gov. Cox conducted a vigorous, dignified and thoughtful campaign for the presidency. Although he was defeated, he lived to see the principles for which he fought vindicated on the pages of history."

Navy Jet Flies Coast To Coast At Speed Faster Than Sound
NEW YORK (AP) — A Navy single engine jet fighter flew coast to coast at better than the speed of sound Tuesday to smash the Air Force's transcontinental record. Its top speed was over 1,000 m.p.h.

Marine Maj. John Glenn Jr., 36, brought his swept-winged silver F8U Chance-Vought Crusader from Los Alamitos, Calif., Naval Air Station to Floyd Bennett Field in 3 hours, 23 minutes and 8.4 seconds.

The old record was 3 hours, 44 minutes and 53.88 seconds set March 9, 1955, by Lt. Col. Robert Scott in an Air Force F84F Thunderstreak.

Senate Votes To Take Up Civil Rights Bill—71-18

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 71-18 Tuesday to take up President Eisenhower's civil rights bill. It was the signal for a bitter North-South fight that may last all summer.

Soon after the Senate decision, Eisenhower issued a statement expressing the hope that, in considering amendments, the Senate "will keep the measure an effective piece of legislation."

Specifically, Eisenhower opposed the idea of guaranteeing jury trials in contempt of court cases which grow out of the legislation.

South To Fight
But Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of southern foes of the bill, said: "We are prepared to expend the greatest effort ever made in history to prevent passage of this bill in its present form."

As soon as the House-approved measure reached the floor, Sen. Morse (D-Ore.), moved that it be sent to the Judiciary Committee for a week's study. This motion was defeated 54-35.

Anderson Amendment
Then Sen. Anderson (D - NM) promptly called up his amendment to strike out the controversial section 3 of the bill, which would give the attorney general new powers to seek federal court injunctions for the enforcement of all manner of civil rights. Violators of these injunctions could be jailed or fined by federal judges for contempt without a jury trial.

Anderson's amendment thus became the pending matter in the battle over the bill, and the Senate recessed at 6:21 p. m. until noon Wednesday.

Expect Filibuster
Now a determined band of southern Democrats led by Russell is expected to filibuster for weeks against the bill unless its terms are softened greatly by amendments.

Almost all other legislative business in the Senate will be suspended until the civil rights issue is settled. Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said this may take two months.

Identify Marine Found Dead Along U.S. Highway 30
HINKLEY, Ill. (AP) — A U.S. Marine found dead Tuesday along a highway was being identified by state police as 19-year-old Charles Judash of nearby De Kalb.

Lt. Ray Cramer of the state police said the cause of death had not been determined but that Judash could have been hurled from a car, hit by a car or fatally injured in a fall. His body was found alongside U.S. 30 near Hinkley.

Cramer said Judash had suffered a broken leg and arm and multiple abrasions. He was wearing civilian clothes.

Judash was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Judash of De Kalb.

Brand TV Set Involved In Boy's Electrocution 'Lethal'
CHICAGO (AP) — A professor of electrical engineering Tuesday branded as lethal a portable television set involved in the electrocution of a 5-year-old boy.

After tests ordered by Coroner Walter McCarron, Dr. Eric T. Gross, professor of electrical engineering at the Illinois Institute of Technology, said:

"At this time there is certainly enough electricity coming from the top plate of the set to kill someone."

McCarron ordered the tests by Gross and other experts prior to the convening of a jury on July 30 to probe the circumstances of the electrocution of Howard Erenstein Jr., 5, of suburban Skokie.

Sunday the child was killed by an electrical shock as he brushed against an aluminum cart on which the set had been resting as the Erenstein family watched TV in the kitchen of their home.

Gross suggested that a lamp be connected with the top of the television set and an ordinary electric socket to see if current would flow. One terminal of the lamp was linked to the television and the other attached to a socket.

U.S. May Equip NATO With Nuclear Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering setting up a stockpile of atomic weapons for Western European nations, Secretary of State Dulles disclosed Tuesday.

He said this would be "an act of confidence which would strengthen the fellowship of the North Atlantic community."

He told a news conference a study would show "within the next few weeks perhaps" whether a change in U.S. atomic law would be needed.

"No definite conclusions have been reached," Dulles said, referring to the whole idea.

He got on the subject when a reporter questioned him about America's disarmament negotiations with Russia, Canada, Britain and France.

The question was whether the United States would, in connection with its disarmament proposals, make available nuclear material and weapons to any western nation agreeing to quit trying to make its own atomic weapons.

"We are studying ways whereby, through perhaps a NATO stockpile of weapons and various arrangements of that sort," Dulles said, "there can be assurances to our Allies that if they are attacked, if war comes, that they will not then be in the position of supplicants, as far as we are concerned, for the use of atomic weapons," Dulles said.

He said he was not sure who would own the stockpile—suggested it might be placed in the hands of Gen. Lauris Norstad, American commander of NATO military forces.

In the event of war, the President as commander in chief could order Norstad to turn nuclear weapons over to the Allies.

Navy Planes Sink Atomic Waste
NEW YORK (AP) — Five Navy planes on a daylong strafing mission Tuesday finally sank a derelict container of radioactive waste. It was menacing shipping in the Atlantic 185 miles southeast of New York.

The planes flew out from Norfolk, Va., and strafed morning and afternoon before sinking the 21 by 6-foot steel cylinder. It was dumped with others Sunday but depth charges intended to sink it failed to go off.

The container came from the General Electric Co. atomic plant at Schenectady, N.Y. It contained low level radioactive sodium waste left over from the development of the nuclear power plant for the Navy submarine Seawolf. Its menace to ships rather than its radioactivity made it dangerous.

Signs Of Surplus

The years since World War II have witnessed an unbelievable expansion of America's industrial plant, which already had proved itself in war as the world's greatest.

Now the question is being asked in some places whether perhaps the country may not be, temporarily at least, a little ahead of the game.

In one of its special reports, U. S. News & World Report points out that after pouring 61 billion dollars into plant expansion and improvement in the past five years our industry has begun to show a good deal of surplus capacity.

For example, the steel mills we have today can produce about 133 million tons of steel a year but the nation has never used more than 117 million tons in any year so far.

If the automobile manufacturers pushed their schedules to the limit, they could roll out more than 11 million cars, trucks and buses in a year. But they never have and now their operations are far below that pace.

The magazine's survey found some evidence of developing surpluses in such fields as cement, aluminum and paper, where shortages have been a plague most of the time since World War II. In the complex and varied chemical industry, numerous surpluses are reported. The oil companies are trying to hold output down to levels well below capacity.

The pattern is not universal. But the evidence of ample unused capacity is nevertheless striking.

Producers are not meeting the situation by flooding the market with goods at lowered prices. Their material and labor costs are too high. This factor rather than heavy demand seems to account for much of the upward push in prices. Though demand might well grow with lower prices and easier credit, price cuts at least do not appear likely.

Yet none of this is considered to spell gloom for the economy. Business generally is at high levels and expected to continue so. Booming population promises bigger markets tomorrow, regardless of prices. Industrial expansion goes on, adding more and more to total capacity.

Capacity in many fields may be running ahead of output. But the distinguishing mark of the American businessman is that he always confidently expects production to catch up. Yet, before he'll let that happen he'll expand again, against a still bigger day after tomorrow.

Confident Diplomat

As our diplomats thread the tortuous path in quest of lasting peace, they move with earnestness, energy and hope—but hardly with confidence.

But to this generalization one exception must now be made. A diplomat with supreme confidence has turned up. His name is Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, famed master of the trumpet and a kind of permissible sacrilege which he calls singing.

"Ambassador Satch" has been touring some parts of the world and is about to embark on new ventures into Latin America and perhaps behind the Iron Curtain. Wherever he goes, of course, he blasts away on his trumpet and growls out an occasional vocal chorus.

Evidently the response has always been good, hence his confidence. For Louis says: "We're doing all right... they ain't having so many wars since I've been blowing over there."

Furthermore, he says, if it seems to work as well next time out "I'm gonna keep layin' it on."

Obviously this is a spirit which can commend itself to Secretary of States Dulles, his lieutenants and all his minions.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—William Basie, a man upon whom immortality has smiled in his own lifetime, believes in living every day as if it were Saturday night.

"I've never been bored," said Bill, better known as Count Basie, dean of "jump swing," who will be 53 next month and has been pounding a piano longer than he can remember.

The Count, a natural genius at his type of music, is the son of a Red Bank, N.J., caretaker. He took only a few 25-cent lessons as a boy, rocketed to the top of the jazz world more than two decades ago, and stayed there ever since.

His band, named as "the best" four years in a row in a poll of critics made by Downbeat Magazine, has made three trans-Atlantic tours. It recently completed an extended engagement at the Waldorf-Astoria, the first Negro band to be featured at that swank Park Avenue hostelry.

Basie has survived the post-war lull that struck down many big name bands, but if you ask him how he has remained on top for so long, the Count replies as if surprised:

"The top? That's the place we're scuffling to reach. The big problem is to hold on to what you've got."

The Count is a man who likes his gin straight and takes life the same way. He expresses himself best in rhythm, not in words, and he speaks with a cautious modesty and invertebrate courtesy.

"If I've learned one thing," he remarked, "it's this: don't forget people. If you pass them going up, they're going to be still around, remembering, when you pass them going the other way."

The Count, composer of "The One O'clock Jump" and other hits, started as a $3 a night tune pouter in a Chinese restaurant on the New Jersey coast. He began to reach the big time in 1935 when he took over Benny Moten's band at the old Reno Club on 12th Street in Kansas City.

"They never closed the doors," he said. "Many oldtime jazz men think four years in a row in a poll of critics made by Downbeat Magazine, has made three trans-Atlantic tours. best in rhythm, not in words, and he speaks with a cautious modesty and invertebrate courtesy.

"If I've learned one thing," he remarked, "it's this: don't forget people. If you pass them going up, they're going to be still around, remembering, when you pass them going the other way."

The Count, composer of "The One O'clock Jump" and other hits, started as a $3 a night tune pouter in a Chinese restaurant on the New Jersey coast. He began to reach the big time in 1935 when he took over Benny Moten's band at the old Reno Club on 12th Street in Kansas City.

"They never closed the doors," he said. "Many oldtime jazz men think four years in a row in a poll of critics made by Downbeat Magazine, has made three trans-Atlantic tours. It recently completed an extended engagement at the Waldorf-Astoria, the first Negro band to be featured at that swank Park Avenue hostelry."

Basie has survived the post-war lull that struck down many big name bands, but if you ask him how he has remained on top for so long, the Count replies as if surprised:

Waverly Business Houses Entered; Little Stolen

Two Waverly business houses were invaded Monday night. In each instance entry was made by breaking the glass in the door and turning the latch.

The Waverly Hardware store located on the south side of the square was entered. The owner, M. H. Williams, said that so far as he could determine nothing was taken except $4.50 in small change from the cash register.

Four cans of cold beer, a few cigarettes, a couple of cigaret lighters and some razor blades were taken from Herb's Tavern located on Route 104, Herb Moore, the owner, said Tuesday.

The break-ins were discovered by Night Watchman Bun Brown as he was making his rounds. Deputy Sheriff Albert Slavens went to Waverly Tuesday morning to assist in the investigation of the two burglaries.

Motorists Apply For Replacement Of Peeled Plates

SPRINGFIELD—More than 3,000 motorists requested replacements last week for license plates from which the paint has peeled, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter said today. This brings the total number of replacements up to 18,000.

Carpenter again urged motorists to take advantage of the manufacturer's offer to replace defective plates free of charge so there can be no question of full compliance with the law.

All that is needed to obtain replacements is a postcard or letter to the Secretary of State's office stating that the paint has peeled from the plate, and listing the license number and the owner's name and address, Secretary Carpenter said.

Pike County Youths Attend 'Keeping Fit Day'

PITTSFIELD — George Daigh, Jr., assistant farm advisor, reports that a goodly number of Pike County rural youths attend- ed the 4-H "Keeping Fit Day" held at the park in Barry July 10. They learned how physically fit they were in comparison to other young people of their ages. From eight in the morning un- til one in the afternoon the 4-H members took part in the tests in order that each one would know just how healthy he actually was and at the same time learn how to keep themselves physically fit and how to make themselves stronger and more healthy. The youngsters first were weigh- ed and measured and given a body type score in order to deter- mine whether or not they were growing according to schedule. Then they ran 60 yards to check their speed and to learn how promptly their heart beat returned to normal as a test of their breath- ing capacity. Sit-ups, broad jumps and arm pull exercises tested their muscu- lar strength, front and back bends checked their body flexibility and a 400 yard dash checked their endurance. Each then compared his score with the standards set up to determine individual fitness levels. The Field Day tests were con- ducted by specialists from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. It is hoped that all who participated in the program

Mr. and Mrs. William Edwards were ob- serving their third wedding an- niversary on the same date.

Moves To Quincy

Mrs. Laura Anderson, aged re- sident of Summer Hill and a re- tired registered nurse who has practiced in many private homes in this area since her graduation from Blessing hospital School of Nursing in Quincy in 1901 and also in Illinois hospital, has moved to Quincy where she will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Christy.

During World War I, Mrs. An- derson served as a Red Cross nurse in the Pittsfield area and later served as TB nurse in Cal- houn County for several years. She also practiced her profession in Dallas, Texas, and Pierce, S.D. In recent years she has lived in retirement at her home in Sum- mer Hill except that she contin- ued as correspondent for a Pike County newspaper.

Mrs. Anderson is a painter of some skill and ability, and de- votes much of her time to the art. She has been successful in sell- ing some of her work and plans to continue in the occupation she en- joys most in Quincy.

BLUFFS — The Woman's So- ciety of Christian Service of the Bluffs Methodist church met Thursday afternoon at the church with Mrs. Merton Pond and Mrs. Beulah Ritter as hostesses.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Margaret Watson. The lesson, "Strangers Within the Gates" was led by Mrs. N. V. Whorton as- sisted by Mrs. Orville Gathard, Mrs. M. C. Parker, Mrs. Jane Woodson and Mrs. Floyd Hart.

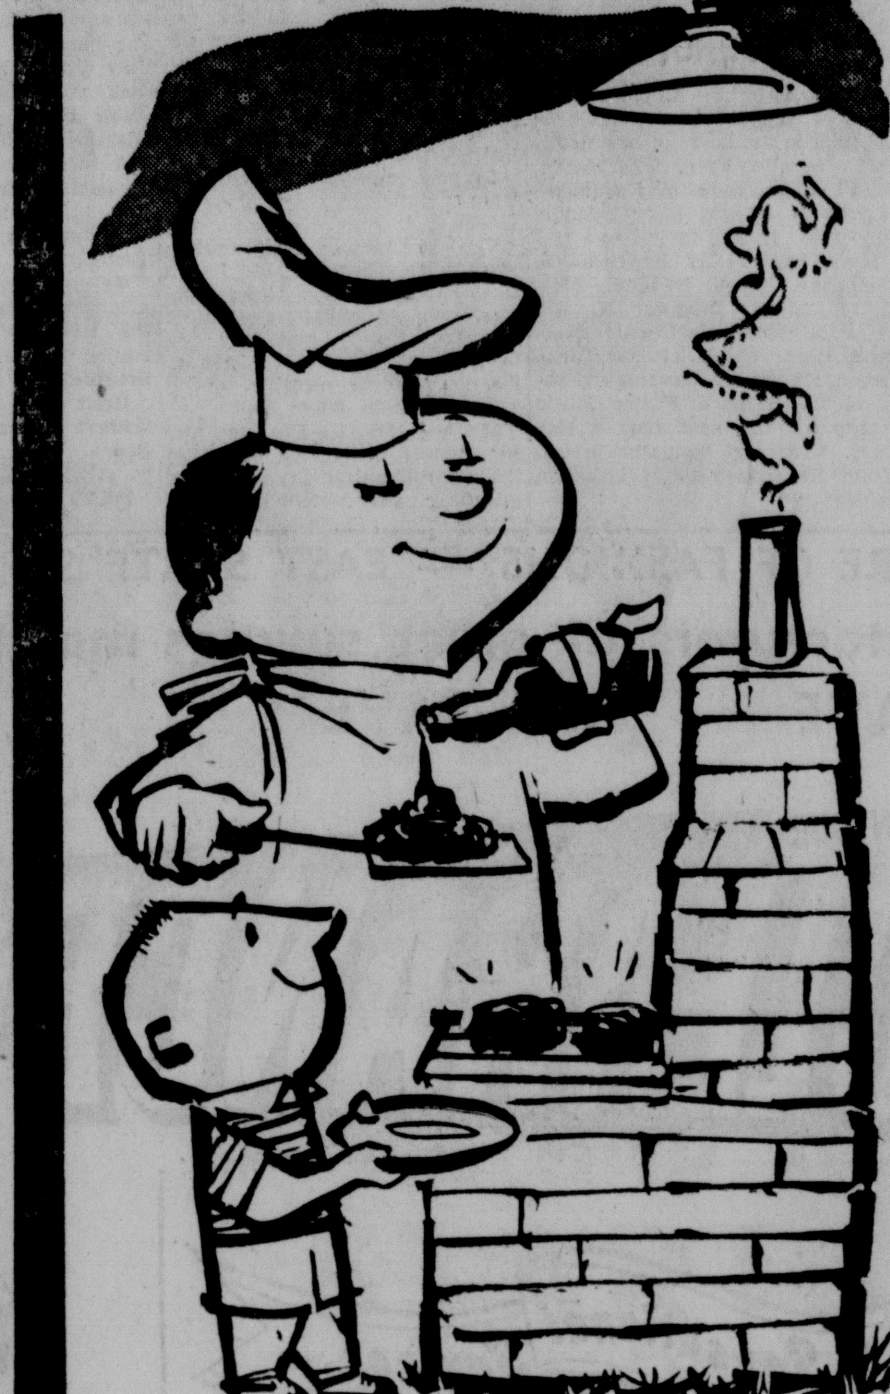

Mrs. Harold Oakes presided at the business session. Roll call was answered by twenty two mem- bers by naming a prophet. Guests were little Misses Debbie Chapman and Nancy Whorton. The budget for the coming year was presented by Mrs. Guss Andres and accepted. Mrs. Watson presented program plans for the year. The annual picnic will be held at the home of Mrs. Jane Woodson on Thursday, Aug. 8 at 3:30 for the business meeting to be followed by a picnic supper on the lawn with the fam- ilies of the members as guests.

She closed the meeting with a part of the inspir- ational program she received from the Spiritual Life clinic.

The hostesses served refresh- ments of white and chocolate cake with ice cream, mints, nuts and iced tea. Roses were used for de- corations.

NEW YORK —(NEA)—Alvin Dark smacked his lips walking down the clubhouse steps and back into the Polo Grounds.

The old pro had showed them. When the Giants traded their captain a year ago, it was gently hinted that Dark wasn't covering the ground he once did. As a shortstop, his arm was always faulted. Now they said that there was less bounce in his legs.

But at 35, Dark is having one of his best years and the surprising Cardinals are out in front and winging.

Pennants follow Dark around. He helped the Boston Braves to one in 1948, sparked the Giants to two in '51 and '54. Now he confidently expects the Red Birds to make him one of the mighty few players who have been on four championship clubs in three different towns.

The St. Louis club finished 17 games out last season and didn't get going this trip until late May, but Dark insists that he was high on the outfit from the start.

"It takes 25 men to win a pennant and the Cardinals have them," says the all-around Beauty of the Bayous. "We have balance, pitching and a defense to go with power hitting and a bench."

Dark persists that his shortstopping isn't any different than it was when he was helping the Braves and Giants to flags.

"Everybody looks better when the club is winning," he points out. "The Giants who swept the World Series of '54 hardly were the greatest club ever put together, but they certainly looked the part."

Starting with Stan Musial's bold bid for his seventh National League batting championship, there are several interesting stories in connection with the Cardinals' upsurge. There is the arrival of Don Blasingame as a stickout playmaker at second base and a top lead-off man, among the league leaders in runs scored and stolen bases.

Any talk about the Cardinals now winds up with the remarkable bonus babies, the McDaniel brothers—Lindy 21 and Von 18.

"I've never seen a pitcher like Von, a loose-jointed, long-armed kid," says Dark. "He'd have won a fifth straight game against Cincinnati, but it was awfully hot and the boy was working with three days rest. Fred Hutchinson suspected he might be tired, so relieved him in the eighth and Sam Jones got the credit."

"Neither Lindy nor Von overpower hitters. They are control pitchers with stuff, not throwers. Lindy can throw a little harder and is more of a low ball pitcher than Von."

The Cardinals have plenty of pitching to go with the phenomenal Oklahoma youngsters—Vinegar Bend Mizell, Willard Schmidt, Larry Jackson, Jones, Herman Wehmeier, Murry Dickson and Hoyt Wilhelm.

Baseball is a game of momentum, as you no doubt have heard, and the Cardinals have had that too in more recent weeks traveling at a .667 pace.

This could be the Gas House Gang all over again, right down to the pair of brothers who can't wait their turn to get in there and pitch.

Barbara Porter Leads Parade In Western Amateur

By L. E. SKELLEY

OMAHA (P)—Barbara Romack Porter, the tournament medalist, led a parade of 16 winners through the first round of the women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament Tuesday.

Although off her steady qualifying pace of a 3-under-par 70, the little blonde from Sacramento, Calif., didn't have any trouble eliminating 27 - year - old Betty Kerby of Akron, Ohio, 4 and 3. She was under par for the hilly Omaha Country Club course.

Barbara, the 1954 USGA amateur champion, will play veteran Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore in the second round Wednesday. Mrs. Glick thrilled the gallery with a 40-yard pitch - run approach at No. 18 for a one-up victory over 18-year-old Clifford Ann Creed, the Southern champion from Opelousas, La.

Andrea (Andy) Cohn of Waterloo, Iowa, the 17-year-old state junior champion, who heads the lower bracket as the result of a qualifying 72, moved ahead with a one-up decision over Great Leona of Chicago.

Karen Anderson, the 18-year-old from Philadelphia came up with a surprise with a 4 and 2 victory over Mrs. Paul Dye, Jr., of Indianapolis, the Hoosier state title holder.

Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, swept 3 under par or a 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. William Hartson of Oakland, Calif.

Mrs. Johnstone, the Iowa champion, will play Mrs. M. J. Dommers of Belvidere, Ill., in the second round. Mrs. Dommers is the Illinois titleholder and as Shirley Mueller of Dubuque, won the Iowa crown in 1946. By coincidence she defeated another former Iowa champion, Mrs. Lucile Robinson Mann of Omaha, 2 and 1 Tuesday.

SWARMS OF FLIES CLOSE MISSISSIPPI RIVER BRIDGE

LA CROSSE, Wis. (P)—The Mississippi River bridge between here and La Crescent, Minn., was temporarily closed because of flies. Swarms of flies which dwell along the Mississippi River sloughs descended on the bridge Monday night because someone forgot to turn off the bridge lights.

Flies landing on the roadway were crushed and caused slippery conditions, blamed for one accident involving a semi-trailer truck and three autos.

Two truckloads of sand solved the traction problem early Tuesday, but not before a delay of 1½ hours had piled up lines of traffic about three miles on each side of the river.

Blasingame Helps Redbird Rooters Forget 'Ole Red'

BROOKLYN (P)—Remember when Frank Lane traded Red Schoendienst to the New York Giants? Frate St. Louis residents who had idolized the brilliant Cardinal second baseman for a dozen years, wanted to boil the new general manager in oil.

That was just about a year ago. There still are occasional rumblings but the majority of the Redbird rooters have long ago conceded that Lane knew what he was doing when he shipped the popular Schoendienst and three other Cardinals for four Giants including shortstop Alvin Dark.

Not because they think the Cards got the better of the deal. Not so much because Dark has been doing a thoroughly satisfactory job in the field and at bat. And certainly not that Schoendienst has shown any signs of slipping. The 34-year - old star is playing as well as ever.

The new enthusiasm stems from the splendid all-around play of Don Blasingame, who has impressed everybody with the way he has filled Red's shoes at second base. The only reason young Don isn't the best second baseman in the National League is because his tutor, Schoendienst, is still around.

It is obvious that Blasingame would never have gotten a chance at second base if Schoendienst hadn't been traded. With Red there, the promising youngster had to be shifted to shortstop and the rookie proved no sensation at the strange position.

"I knew I was sticking my chin out by trading Schoendienst," Lane recalled. "But I was thinking of the future. And I had faith in Blasingame."

Blasingame, only 25, currently is batting .279 after hovering around .300 all season. His three home runs have helped him drive in 33 runs, an impressive figure for a leadoff batter.

It is in the field, however, where Blasingame shines. He's made only seven errors in 485 chances. That's a record-breaking 986 clip So his participation in 82 of his team's double plays.

Burke Decides To Play PGA Meet Despite Injury

By WILL GRIMSLEY

DAYTON, Ohio (P)—Defending champion Jack Burke, Jr., put his aggravated left wrist to test in a windup practice for the PGA Golf Tournament, then announced "It's Okay. Tuesday I'll go for it."

Burke, winner of both the Masters and Professional Golfers Assn. championships last year, opened defense of the latter crown Wednesday morning against Gene Marchi, pro of the host Miami Valley Golf Club.

It is one of 64 first round head to head battles involving 128 top flight tournament professionals and little known club teachers.

It will set off a series of eliminations demanding a total of 162 holes in the space of five days. The finals are slated Sunday.

Burke bruised the tendons in his left wrist recently in an accident at home on the day he removed the bandages from his right wrist. This had forced his withdrawal from the National Open Tournament at Toledo a month ago.

If misery loves company, Burke has it. At least three other top-ranked contenders were fighting assorted ailments on the eve of the 39th annual match play wrangle of the professionals.

Sam Snead, seeking his fourth PGA title, complained of bruises in his left arm which he said for a while threatened to halt his tournament career. Former National Open champion Ed Furgol fell through a fence in Montreal, suffering a thigh injury which has kept him out of the last two tournaments. And Chick Harbert, 1954 champion, is getting over the whooping cough and said, "The medicine leaves me weak."

Snead, strong as an ox at the age of 45, is co-favored for the championship with Master champion Doug Ford, 1955 PGA winner.

Legion Clobbers Pittsfield, 20-3, In District Meet

JERSEYVILLE —(Special)—Jacksonville American Legion pounded out a decisive 20-3 victory over Pittsfield here Tuesday night in their opening game of the Jerseyville District Tournament. Jack Long homered twice and Merrit Norvell collected three hits in three trips to pace the Legion's attack.

Norvell started and finished to receive credit for the victory. The Legion engages Carrollton Friday night at 8 p.m. in their second encounter.

Mussatto Gains 3rd Round Berth In City Amateur

CHICAGO (P)—Harry Mussatto, golf coach at Western State College, Tuesday advanced to the third round of the 53rd annual City Amateur Golf Tournament at Jackson Park.

Mussatto, winner of the meet in 1953, moved up by defeating Ken McGlothlin, Chicago, 6 and 5. Also making the third round was Mike Spinello of Arlington Heights, a sophomore at Northern Illinois State. Spinello trounced Andy Hajik, Chicago, 6 and 4, finishing out the round with a 5-under-par 64.

Mrs. Gloria Shields, Patty, Mrs. Jack Bailis and Mrs. Ormond Goodrich, left to right, participated in the exhibition foursome following the clinic and drew raves and applause from the gallery with their fine performances. Patty's 36, one over the men's par and two under the women's par at the Country Club, won the match.

The freckled-faced redhead from Minneapolis, Minn., who plays out of the St. Andrews, Ill. Country Club, mixed humor with ability during her clinic and the gallery loved it. Patty had almost as many sisters as she did Wilson balls, but the sisters (Gertrude and Myrtle) who always seem to be in the gallery when Patty's playing, helped Miss Berg demonstrate her golf techniques through their mistakes.

Patty's personality plus her fine game of golf won her new fans from Pittsfield, Murrayville, Winchester, Roodhouse, White Hall, Griggsville, Ashland, Carrollton, Chapin, Alexander, Pleasant Plains as well as Jacksonville Tuesday afternoon.

Patty's golfing game has won her world acclaim and many titles but none of these titles will ever be remembered as much as the lady herself. Yes, Miss Berg is a true and grand champion in every way.

Orioles' Ray Moore Checks Chisox On Two Hits For 3-1 Victory

Jacksonville Merchants entertained Griggsville tonight at Nichols Park diamond in an 8:30 p.m. tilt. Griggsville is a member of the strong Illinois League. Tom Petty, former Pittsfield hurler, who was recently released from his pro contract because of a sore arm, may start on the hill for the Nite Hawks. The Merchants carry a nine-win, one-loss mark into tonight's game.

CHICAGO (P)—Righthander Ray Moore gave up two hits in the first inning and then retired 21 men in a row while pitching the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night on the strength of Billy Goodman's two-run homer.

Moore was nicked for a blooped double by Nellie Fox and a run-scoring single Minnie Minoso in the first inning then didn't yield until Sammy Esposito's two-out single in the eighth.

With one out in the ninth, Fox singled off Moore's pitching fingers and the 31-year-old veteran was forced to leave the game. Billy Loes retired the final two men to preserve Moore's sixth triumph against six losses.

Goodman's homer off reliever Dixie Howell followed a 26-minute delay because of rain in the eighth inning and snapped a 1-1 tie.

Yanks Score 6 Runs In 10th To Beat Tigers, 10-4

DETROIT (P)—The New York Yankees squandered a four - run lead, then came roaring back with six runs in the 10th inning—three of them on a tremendous home run by veteran relief pitcher Tommy Byrne — and thrashed the Detroit Tigers 10-4 before 43,737 spectators in Briggs Stadium Tuesday night.

HOLE-IN-ONE FOR CHARLIE

CHARLIE DAVIS scored the first hole-in-one of his career and he says, "probably my last," Saturday afternoon at the Jacksonville Country Club on the par 3, 172-yard number six green with a 4½ wood. Davis shot a 42 his first 9 holes and a 44 his second round when he made the first hole-in-one of the season received by this corner. Charlie is a port-sider.

Score Receives Green Light To Resume Workouts

CLEVELAND (P)—Herb Score can resume workouts Thursday and pitch a game in from four to six weeks, Dr. Charles I. Thomas said Tuesday after examining the young Cleveland Indians' pitcher's mending eye.

The 24-year-old southpaw was hit in the eye by a "line drive last May 7 and has been out of action since. For a time he could barely see out of the injured eye.

"There has been great improvement in the condition of the eye," Dr. Thomas said. "The function of the eye has returned close enough to normal for Herb to resume workouts this Thursday. He should be able to pitch in four to six weeks, depending on how long it takes for Herb to get in shape."

Score and his new bride, the former Nancy McNamara, returned to Cleveland early Tuesday from Florida, where they were married last week. They plan to live here through the summer.

Score said he is a few pounds below his playing weight.

Only one bad shot marred Patty's otherwise brilliant round. On the par 4, 440-yard number 7, Patty went out of bounds on her first shot and this shot probably cost her an even men's par 35 for the course. The foursome didn't nudge on their score, they drove from the men's tees. Bob Shields, C.C. pro secured Miss Berg's services through the Wilson Sporting Goods Company.

Dodgers Break 2-2 Tie With Four-Run Fifth To Beat St. Louis, 7-5

BROOKLYN (P)—Duke Snider blasted his 20th home run with a man on base in a four-run fifth inning that broke a 2 - all tie Tuesday night and carried the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 7-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the fifth in a row for the fourth place Brooks now just one game and 10 percentage points shy of first place Philadelphia. The Cards although losing their second in a row retained second place a half game back by one point over the Braves—who stayed four points ahead of Brooklyn.

The four - run fifth handing young Lindy McDaniel an 8-6 record nailed it for the Brooks but in the end, it was a two - run throwing error by Card right fielder Wally Moon that proved the big difference.

Moon's errant peg gave the Brooks a 2-all tie in the fourth inning, which Gino Cimoli opened with a single. Gil Hodges then lashed a drive toward the scoreboard in right, which Moon just missed on a one-handed stab. Cimoli, holding up on the play, got to third, then was waved home as Moon's throw bounced into the St. Louis dugout for an automatic two-base error.

Braves, Spahn Stop Phils, 6-2

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Milwaukee's Warren Spahn slowed down Philadelphia's National League express train with a six - hitter Tuesday as the Braves trounced the first-place Phillies 6-2 at Connie Mack Stadium.

The rarefied atmosphere of the league summit proved bothersome to the upstart Phillies. The only thing that kept them in their half game lead was second place St. Louis' 7-5 loss to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Milwaukee, however, remained in third despite the Card's loss but was only one percentage point behind St. Louis. Brooklyn, meanwhile, moved up a game from the top and the Phillies, though in first, were ahead of the Dodgers by only nine percentage points.

Philadelphia had moved out on top Monday night for the first time in over three years with a 6-2 triumph over the Cardinals, roaring from five games behind in just two weeks.

The loss broke a four-game winning streak.

The Phillies gave Spahn little trouble. Both their runs were unearned.

Milwaukee, on the other hand, slugged away repeatedly with homers by Hank Aaron (his 29th) and Del Crandall (his 10th) and triples by Andy Pafko and Spahn leading the way.

GIRL MAKES TRIPLE PLAY
ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (P)—Third baseman S. Fiddler of the Wesley House Fastball League turned in an unassisted triple play recently.

The box score credited the player with catching a fly, tagging a runner coming into third base and tagging another trying to scamper back to third after a dash toward home.

Incidentally, S. Fiddler's first name is Sandra — it's a girl's league.

STAMPEDE AT BLUE SPRINGS

BY GENE OLSON

It seemed like everybody in Blue Springs talked about what was going to happen but nobody said anything much. I kept listening, though, just in case. Along toward the middle of the afternoon, quiet settled into the town like dust after the wind dies.

At first I thought it was the day. Prairie-hot, September-hot. There was wind but it was warm, from the southeast, and soggy-wet. I had both doors of the livery open and Owen was going to be mad about it. He was crazy, anyway, about it letting flies in. More likely let some out. I could see the wind swirling dust in Chicago St. I wished I was sitting in cottonwood shade by the Big Blue River and just watching that dirty water wash by. The shadows got long in the street and it cooled some. Still nobody stirred much. Owen came and I could tell he'd heard something. He blinked at me and went into the harness room. He didn't say a solitary word about the door being open.

I went up to the harness room. Owen lolled in his chair, mopping sweat off his face with a dirty red bandanna.

Owen said, "They're figurin' to take Dorsey off that train."

"Who says it's Dorsey?" "Don't matter."

I figured it might be Dorsey, soon as word got around that trouble was stirring. I knew he got a sentence of 15 years over in Omaha City. If the Clement brothers planned to do anything to Pete Dorsey to make up for Barney Jethroe getting killed, they had to do it mighty soon. Even the Clements wouldn't likely reach over the walls of a United States prison. But I didn't think those government fools in Omaha City would be foolish enough to send Pete through Blue Springs, if they knew anything about what happened. Maybe they didn't know. Pete wasn't likely to say, that's for sure.

Pete Dorsey and Barney Jethroe went buffalo hunting one morning out in the basin. Barney was breaking in a young horse so he had Pete along to help. When Barney got his stand of buffaloes and was banging away, Pete held that skittish colt downwind where the buffaloes wouldn't smell him. A man afoot can get mighty close to a herd but he's got to have a good horse in case a stampede starts his way. A good horse, trained right, will stand and wait until the hunter can get to him. Not trusting his horse much, Barney had Pete along to hold him.

Trouble was, he should've had somebody along to hold Pete. Smelling blood from the down animals, that herd got upset and broke into a stampede aimed square at Barney. Barney ran for his horse to get out of there. But Pete got scared and lit out. Barney's horse rambled right along, leaving Barney afoot.

There were some folks watching from up on the ridge. They said Barney stumbled. That was the end of Barney Jethroe.

BARNEY worked for the Clements. Dorsey knew that and never stopped moving, once he got out of the basin that morning. More than once the Clements went looking but never caught up to him. The Clements didn't talk about it, but it wasn't any secret that they had some business with Pete Dorsey, once they found him.

Only now it looked like in place of them finding Dorsey, the Barney's horse rambled right along, leaving Barney afoot. . . That was the end of Barney Jethroe.

United States government was under the big box eider on the corner.

I sat under the box eider until the prairie turned dark yellow. I got up and stretched the stiffness out of my knees and tramped toward Chicago St. I went into Carter's store and moseyed around and looked at things. I could feel Amos over behind the counter staring at me.

"Something for you, Pike?" "Yeah. Meat and maybe a little coffee."

I took it and told him to put it on Owen's bill and then went out. When I got to the livery, Owen was gone. I went up the loft ladder to my room. I had a straw bunk in one corner of the loft that was kept clear of hay. I had a table, too, and a stove with a pipe running out the end of the barn. I had a chair I made myself. For walls I fixed up newspapers on two-by-four frames and that made me a room about eight feet square.

I lit my lamp and turned down the wick until it quit smoking, built a wood fire and started sweating from it. I went down the loft ladder and to the back corner of the barn and sure enough, the eggs were there in the clean straw. I took two and went back up the ladder. Looked to me like it folks can't keep their chickens at home, they got to overlook somebody else eating a few eggs.

I SWALLOWED as much as I could and had some coffee and was just about done when I heard Owen.

"Pike! You come down here!" I put my frying pan and cup back under the table and blew out the lamp and went out to the ladder. Owen said, "Come down and look."

I crawled down the ladder and looked where Owen pointed, through the door toward Chicago St. Marshall McNabb was walking toward the barn, his head down, some papers under his arm. I walked toward the front of the barn. I couldn't see what Owen was driving at. I said, "Marshall's going home to supper."

"He's goin' home to stay. He quit, boy. Told Jordan Peterson that they'd have to find them a new marshal."

John McNabb had been marshal of Blue Springs for a long time. With him out, you couldn't just turn around and find another marshal, not with trouble boiling up like it was. Maybe we just wouldn't have a marshal. I thought. Maybe it would be a long time before we had a marshal again. I said, "I'll be going."

Owen said, "You keep away from the tracks tonight."

I DECIDED maybe Owen had about all the trouble from me he could handle for a while so I went back in the barn. No use telling Owen I was quitting early. Usually he wasn't of a mind to do me favors so I just had to go ahead and do myself some. I knew he couldn't find anybody else that would work for eight dollars a week and found, with him cutting it to six dollars in the bad part of the winter when things slowed up.

I sauntered down Missouri to Hook St. and sat myself down were unable to cope with the record 6 1/2 inch rainfall Friday night and Saturday, and as a result thousands of basements and rumpus rooms were flooded by the backup waters.

The flood was all over in Chicago Monday, with stream levels dropping steadily.

Damage was expected to run in the millions. The Illinois Bell Telephone Co. estimated its storm costs at one million dollars, the Chicago Transit Authority, $400,000 and the Commonwealth Edison Co. and its subsidiary, Public Service Co., $350,000.

LOOKING for a HOME?

Stop it — A home is looking for a good owner who appreciates the best in a home — it is a finished home, inside and out you watched it under construction, saw the owners creating a setting — lawn, shrubs, flowers, admired it, passed it often, and never dreamed you might ever own it.

But conditions change, it is now available. Your only question should be, when can we see it? You say when — be first.

Export Markets For Soybeans Expanding

HUDSON, Iowa — Export markets for U. S. soybeans and soybean products will receive top billing at the 37th annual convention of the American Soybean Association in Minneapolis Aug. 27-28, says Geo. M. Strayer, executive vice president of the Association. The convention is being held in conjunction with the annual business meeting of the National Soybean Processors Association Aug. 26. All sessions will be in Hotel Leanington.

Growing export markets for U. S. soybeans and their products have become vital to a prosperous agriculture, says Strayer. About 40 percent of the oil from the 1936 soybean crop, and 80 to 85 million bushels of soybeans, or in the neighborhood of 20 percent of the 1936 crop, are finding their way into export markets, according to Strayer.

"Without exports markets would have been badly depressed and a much larger portion of the crop would have passed into government hands this year than has happened," he said.

Research Forum No. 24 Meets At Bluffs Home

WINCHESTER — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Korty entertained members of Research Forum No. 24 at dinner at their farm home near Bluffs on Monday evening with nine members and two guests present.

Dr. W. E. Harper read the paper which he had prepared on "The Dilemma of Nationalism," in which he reviewed both the good and evil points of nationalism.

The paper began with the development of national units of political powers when man was compelled to unite with other men to survive. The process moved from small groups or tribes to great nations. It was pointed out that this program of common unity has brought better standards of living, lifted the ideals of people, and enabled man to make more use of natural resources. It also has developed transportation, communication, and education to levels never attainable by individual efforts. However, this same working together brings many troubles, such as crimes, social problems, one group pitted against others in life and death struggles such as war.

Dr. Harper concluded with the following questions about the final stages of nationalism: "Will the nations actually unite to make one world, or will one nation or ideology become the strongest and become supreme in the world?"

During the business session with Bob Reid, chairman, plans were made for the family picnic in August. It will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vortman Monday, Aug. 19, with Charles Shipley as chairman of the committee on arrangements. In the absence of the secretary, Otto Henry, Rev. Roy Goodell acted as secretary. J. Carl Woodcock and Virgil Coughlin were guests.

Dog Catcher Tells Of Jabbing Wife With Anaesthetic

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The superintendent of Daytona Beach's Humane Society admitted to officers Tuesday that after a day of beer drinking he jabbed into his wife's stomach two shots of an anaesthetic he kept to dispose of "small kittens and dogs."

He died an hour later.

Walter R. Hoffman, 44, who also is the city's dog warden, said he made the injections July 7 as he "sat sagging in a chair" after their drinking. He said he had no idea why he did it, adding: "My wife was the best woman in the world. That's why I can't understand any of this I've been begging the Lord to give me an answer."

During questioning by State Atty. W. W. Judge, Hoffman told a story of being haunted by the trust and friendliness of animals he had been forced to put to sleep.

"It did something to me each time I saw a dog wagging its tail at me just before I put it to sleep."

He said humane society officials recently supplied him with the anaesthetic to put dogs and cats to sleep after the gas chamber went out of order.

"The animals cried too much as they were being put to sleep in the chamber," he said.

Judge charged Hoffman with second degree murder after the questioning and after conferring with Dr. W. W. Schildecker, Hall-Fax Hospital pathologist who performed the autopsy.

The State Board of Health reported after an autopsy that it found only a "minimal amount of barbiturates" in the body's organs.
